From The Superintendent's Desk — By Dr. Plas

Below is an editorial I wrote that was published in the December 30th edition of the Columbus Telegram. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me by phone at (402) 564-8518 or by email at aplas@lakeview.esu7.org.

The 2018 legislative session is almost upon us and that means there will be some of the usual rhetoric from our unicameral regarding public schools. It is almost guaranteed you will hear that school spending is out of control and property taxes are too high because of it. Instead of sitting back and waiting for this to happen, I thought I might address a few of these areas as they pertain to Lakeview Community Schools.

Nebraska schools had an average annual spending increase of 3.5% from 2003-2014. During this same time, the number of students being educated in Nebraska increased 8.16% and the number of students living in poverty increased almost 10%. While this growth was happening, the percentage of our state budget that is allocated for K-12 education decreased from 32% to 27.6% which caused a decrease in the funds being distributed to schools by an estimated $187 million. Due to the decreased amount of state money being allocated for education, there is only one place left to generate the revenue needed to keep the school running and that is property taxes.

Lakeview will be the first to stand in line and say property taxes are too high! In fact, we have signed resolutions and have been on the front lines trying to create a better balance in our state funding. But until there is a more appropriate amount of money being allocated to all K-12 schools, our hands are tied into being overly reliant on property taxes. In fact, Nebraska is so reliant on property taxes that we rank 7th in the country in property taxes paid. While our percentage of K-12 funding that comes from state resources ranks 49th in the nation.

We often discuss in our patron budget meetings that we focus on what we can control, which is our spending. Lakeview, over the previous seven years, has had an average annual spending increase of only 0.7%. Yes, that is a less than 1% increase in expenses per year over the 7 years. Over the last five years, we have also seen our student population grow by almost 35%. In addition, it is worth noting that only 15.6% of our total budget comes from state funds. That means that 84.4% of our $10,723,672 in 2016-17 was generated from local, county, and federal taxes. That percentage will tell you why our property taxes in the state of Nebraska are too high!

So as the legislative session begins, please know that schools ARE over-reliant on property taxes, but that is NOT due to over-spending. It is due to a lack of funding for education from the state of Nebraska. And no one wants to see that change more than Lakeview!

Personal Finance Class – H&R Block Budget Challenge

By: Tara Dlouhy

Your child will be participating in the H&R Block Budget Challenge from February 1 – April 12. During the H&R Block Budget Challenge, your child will learn how to pay bills, manage expenses, save money, invest in retirement, and pay taxes as if they were recent college graduates. The program's learn-by-doing approach lets students learn real-world financial skills without real-world consequences. Scores increase by maximizing 401(k) savings, paying bills on time, avoiding fees and penalties, and responding correctly to quiz questions. As in real life, a few unexpected events may occur along the way, teaching students to be financially prepared for emergencies.

H&R Block will award five $10,000 scholarships to the most real-world ready competitors across the nation. The score is combined of skill, behavior, and knowledge demonstrated through gameplay. If you would like to read the official rules, please visit hrbds.org. If you do not want your child to participate in this event, please contact me immediately. Lakeview is excited to participate in this real-life event that combines instructional material with hands on application. Any questions or reservations, please contact me at tdlouhy@lakeview.esu7.org or 402-564-8518.

Careers Class Mrs. Tara Dlouhy

The careers class would like to thank the many speakers, interviewers, and businesses that participated in first semester activities. Each career cluster was researched then enhanced by bringing in a speaker or doing an in class simulation. For example, for the hospitality and tourism cluster, students acted as a travel agent creating a travel package based on the specifications given by their clients. Another fun interactive activity was for the education cluster. Groups of students created a lesson plan and activity to present to the junior high students about digital citizenship and the traits of writing. Career students acted as the teacher for that period to their group and taught them about their specific subject matter. This activity opened the eyes of many on the work it takes to create a lesson and challenges educators see in the classroom.

Throughout the semester, thirteen speakers came into the careers classroom to share their personal stories and experiences in that career field. It was a great experience for the students to hear from someone in that profession and helped several students choose a career path. Thank you to these individuals and groups for sharing your experiences:

Senator Paul Schumacher - Government & Public Administration
K.C. Belitz, Columbus Chamber of Commerce – Government & Public Administration
Riley Scott, KLIR – Arts & Communication
Kim Liebig, NPPD – Energy & Engineer
Courtney Ruzek, Boone County Health – Health Science
Melinda Allen, Columbus Community Hospital – Health Science
Mark Brady & ESU7 members - Education & Training
Nick Bonney, State Patrol - Law, Public Safety, Corrections, & Security
Tony Miller, Police Chief & Marine - Law, Public Safety, Corrections, & Security
Dave Christensen, Pastor & Corrections Officer – Human Services
Jill Goedeken, UNL Extension Office – Time Management Skills
Columbus Chamber of Commerce – Resume & Interview Skills

We would also like to thank the individuals & businesses in the community for participating in Mock Interview Day and job shadows. Students had the opportunity to develop a resume, cover letter, and interview with two business people in the community. This opportunity provided students a real life opportunity to put their career readiness skills to use. All students were required to complete a job shadow opportunity with someone in their interested career field. Students spent a half to full day with the individual/business and filled out a reflection packet. A big thank you to everyone and their business for allowing our students to get first-hand experience.

From the Library, with Mrs. Luebe

How to Hate (Your Teen's) Homework Less

By Kristin Ageton in Parents on November 16, 2017

Do you dread asking your teen about their homework every evening? Do you find it turning into a shouting match or sulk session? How can you get a handle on this area of contention with your family? Here are some ideas to make homework less hated in your house.

Remove distractions.

Is it typical for your child to be doing homework at the kitchen table while a TV is on, siblings are having conversations, and you're cooking? All the stimuli can make it hard to focus. Your child may not be a fan of a completely quiet space (music may actually help), but consider what sounds and actions need to be removed. One essential item to remove: your child's phone. Difficult, I know, but consider this next alternative...

Provide rewards as your child meets homework accomplishments.

This could either be in the amount of time spent on the work or subject covered. You'll have to pick and choose this based on what motivates your teen. For example, if math homework takes over an hour every night and your child gets frustrated and gives up, it may make more sense to break every 20 minutes. But if your bigger issue is actually accomplishing the work, it may be a better idea to take a break after a subject's work is completed. One reward/break idea: give 5-10 minutes of phone time. They can text, use social media, or play games. An even better reward: send them outside for a walk around the block. Some fresh air will help their brain relax and focus.

It's important to note: do NOT mix in chores during this time. The breaks should be positive and something for your child to look forward to. Mixing in chores just makes homework a complete dread every day – and won't help your cause of hating homework less.

Be consistent with homework routines.

This is really the most difficult strategy to deploy because you're talking about doing homework at the same time in the same location. And let's be honest, this isn't realistic with a teen's busy activity schedule. Find what works best for your family, and at the very least: don't let a lack of a supply item catch your family off-guard, and ultimately derail the homework completion train. Stock the homework location with potentially needed supplies: pencils, paper, calculator, and poster board... Can we seriously talk about the number of breakdowns we'd avoid by just having poster board on hand? Put it on your grocery list today.

Do your paperwork during homework time, too.

Sit with your child if the study spot is in a common place (like the kitchen table) and go through mail, pay bills, complete the work you had to bring home, or at the very least: online shopping (hey, they don't have to see your screen...). Having you physically near them and doing your own work, makes them feel less alone in this battle.

Talk about school/teachers/homework POSITIVELY.

If you dread homework time, obviously your teen will too, so choose a better attitude. And communicate with teachers about how you can help your child in the homework area. Connect with teachers in the way that is easiest for them (phone, email, notes passed via your child). Finally, by middle and high school, parents start to be less helpful with homework because it's getting so advanced. Support your child by taking him/her to school early or pick up later so he/she can get help from the teacher.

Tidbits from the Technology Department

-Jan Went, Instructor

Lakeview Continues as a Certified Microsoft IT Academy

In the spring of 2014, the Nebraska State Legislature appropriated $250,000 in funds to support the implementation of Microsoft Information Technology Academies in Nebraska high schools and community colleges. At that time, Lakeview High School was selected and continues to be a Certified Microsoft IT Academy and Certiport Testing Center. Funds were appropriated for three school years. Over the past three years, over 200 Lakeview students have received their certifications.

Unfortunately, the funding for this year was cut by the legislature. It is the hope that this funding will continue once the agriculture economy becomes more stable. Until that time, the administration has approved funding for this year so that Lakeview students can continue to be a part of this fantastic opportunity.

Students who received their specialist certification for Fall 2017 include:

Microsoft Word Specialists:

Lucien Engel, Ethan Goldfish Vinson, Whitney Kuta, Cole Langmack, Endy Leon, Adam Nelson, Michal Nelson, Colby Pieper, Thunder Pilakowski, Luke Sliva, Delaney Snyder, Emma Stewart, Emily Stevenson, Kade Stromberg and Dawson Wurdeman.

Microsoft PowerPoint Specialists:

Lance Borer, Lucien Engel, Madeline Fremarek, Ethan Goldfish Vinson, Bradyn Kucera, Whitney Kuta, Cole Langmack, Endy Leon, Carsten Loseke, Michal Nelson, Colby Pieper, Thunder Pilakowski and Luke Sliva,

Microsoft Excel Specialists:

Ethan Goldfish Vinson, Whitney Kuta and Luke Sliva.

We are anxious to certify many more students, staff and patrons this spring!

All students who have become certified during the 2017-2018 school year will be recognized at the Honors Night in May!

Sergio Ponce -Microsoft Office PowerPoint Nebraska Champion

Sergio Ponce, a Lakeview senior was named as the champion in Nebraska for achieving the highest score in the Microsoft PowerPoint exam this past fall.

Sergio Ponce

Because of this achievement, Sergio is eligible to attend the national Microsoft competition held in Atlanta, Georgia June 13-15 at the Atlanta Marriott Marquis. While there, Sergio will compete in his event, tour the CNN national headquarters and the Martin Luther King Memorial. He will also attend several banquets and luncheons honoring the state champions. Sergio will be accompanied by his Information Technology instructor, Mrs. Jan Went.

Sergio's other accomplishments include becoming a Microsoft Master in Office 2013, and nearing completion of becoming a Microsoft Office Master in Office 2016.

Good luck Sergio!

Happy New Year to everyone from the staff and students at St. John's Lutheran School!

The Little Room Students, grades K-2, over the month of December got into the Christmas the spirit by "Random Acts of Kindness". They were busy coming up with a list of school, church and community people in which they wanted to share the love of Jesus with by sharing a special note, a smile, or even a gift. What a wonderful way to encourage the gift of giving instead of receiving.

The Middle Room, grades 3-5, enjoyed reading their literature paperbacks books The Island of the Blue Dolphins, The Whipping Boy and Nancy Drew Clue Crew. They are sharing their books with a special "Lap-book" book report. The 3rd and 4th graders have mastered their multiplication facts, making division much easier. They were excited to share their "Tremendously Thoughtful Tweets" to prepare hearts and minds for Christmas and sharing Jesus with others.

The Big Room, grades 6-8, was busy this Christmas by memorizing their program parts for Christmas Eve service. We also had "Tweet bird" named "Parker" who gave us a kind task to do each day. They have also begun the novel The Giver which sounds like a Yuletide book, but is really about a Utopian Society set in the future. They are also getting excited about starting basketball season.

Our school and many other schools have scrip programs (selling gift cards to many merchants) and the school will earn a certain percentage back from the merchant. We did a Scrip Competition in the month of November to see how much scrip we could sell, it went extremely well, all the children earned an extra recess and a pizza party. Thank you to all who participated!

In the month of December our chapel offering went to Hats, Gloves, and Mittens to support our youth group's ministry to the reservation in Minnesota. The children emptied out their piggy banks that goal

The whole school took part in the online mission trip to Cambodia sponsored by Lutheran Hour Ministries. A "Penny War" was also held to raise money for the Center for Survivors. The week ended with a field trip to Fremont to Ruff House. We thank God for the blessing of our school, our families, and staff. God is so good!!

During the first semester our Chapel offerings went to World Vision where we could "purchase" animals and other items for families in third world countries. With the money collected we were able to "purchase" a goat and 2 chickens, education for girls, medicine, 3 ducks and 1 goat and a Bible. We pray that these items will be a blessing and sustain a family for many years.

SHELL CREEK STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN JUMP ROPE FOR HEART!!!!

On November 7th and 9th, 2017 Shell Creek Elementary students, grades 1st-6th grades participated in the annual Jump Rope for Heart program. This program is sponsored by the American Heart Association in schools throughout the nation. Each year the American Heart Association asks each school nation wide to participate in this program to help fight heart disease and stroke. The students at Shell Creek Elementary have shown a great interest in this program and worked hard to raise funds to help in the fight against heart disease and stroke. This year Shell Creek Elementary had 260 students participate, with 91 of those students turning in money donations for the American Heart Association. This year Shell Creek Elementary raised $4098.00 to help fund research and programs in and around our community fighting heart disease and stroke. This year as Jump Rope for Heart coordinator I challenged the students to work as hard as they could to earn funds.

I would also like to recognize this year's top money raisers at Shell Creek Elementary. Normally it is a pretty close race when it comes to determining the top money raiser and this year was close again. Sophia Bender, a 6th grader turned in the most money with $250.00. Sophia will receive a recognition certificate from the American Heart Association and a medal for her hard work and efforts to promote healthy lifestyles. Congratulations Sophia!!!

As this years JRFH coordinator, I would like to thank all of the students for their hard work and efforts. It's a total school effort and these students showed a lot of excitement and enthusiasm about participating in this year's Jump Rope for Heart. I would also like to thank all the teachers and parents for all your help in getting the money back to me so quickly. By doing this I was able to get the money sent off to the American Heart Association as soon as possible and the students prizes can be sent to reward their efforts. The prizes came in and have been given to the students who earned them. I look forward to next years Jump Rope for Heart and teaching the students to be physically fit and healthy for a lifetime.

Sincerely,

Chris Thoms

If the decision is made that there will be a late start or no school for Lakeview Community Schools, a message will be put onto the Lakeview web site (www.lakeview.esu7.org). Once you log into the web site, it will open an alert box with a notification of all information you will need to know. You will have to acknowledge the message before being let into the web site.

It is very important that we keep your child's information up-to-date in the event your child would get sick or there was an emergency at school. Please contact your child's school office if you have any contact information/address changes.

Lost items? We have an abundance of lost items in the school offices. Please stop in when you are at one of the elementary schools or Junior-Senior High School and claim what might belong to you or your child. We encourage you to mark your child's items for easy identification.

We're getting healthier!

It's a fact – healthier students are better learners. That's why our school is launching a school wide wellness initiative to make Lakeview a healthier environment for everyone. We're part of a movement across Washington and the nation to make our schools healthier places to learn and work.

Our Wellness Policy Team, chaired by Jenny Sloup, is in charge of implementing our school's wellness policy. The wellness policy address school meal programs, nutrition education, physical activity and foods available during the school day. We are providing more nutritious yet tasty food options so that students can choose healthier foods for their meals and snacks. We are also increasing opportunities for physical activity.

Watch the Lakeview Web page (www.lakeview.esu7.org), under the District tab for regular updates, school policy, and Wellness Policy Team member names. Creating a healthier school environment is a team effort, we invite you to join us!
